WASHINGTON WATCHING FAR EASTERN EVENTS: JAPAN IS CAUTIOUS WHILE SEEING HOW ANY FURTHER POLITICAL BLUFF WILL WORK

CHINESE VISITORS TO WHITE HOUSE

Mr. T. V. Soong and Dr. Hu Shih, the Chinese Ambassador to Washington, snapped as they were leaving the White House after a talk with President Roosevelt.

FLEET AIR ARM BOMB THREE OIL TANKS

LONDON, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—The Admiralty announced that the Fleet Air Arm bombed the fuel depot five miles south of Bergen.

Three tanks, containing 7,000 tons of oil, were hit. The largest was seen to blow up while the second largest was afire.

All our aircraft returned safely.

871,060 JAPANESE RESIDENT IN CHINA

TOKYO, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—Despite restrictions on travel to China enforced since May 20, the number of Japanese residents in China is steadily increasing, according to figures released by the Foreign Office.

Japanese colonies in North, Central and South China totalled 552,158 on Jan. 7, showing an increase of 58,527 over Jan. 4. Japanese residents in Peiping number 87,437, in Tientsin 51,374, in Tsingtao 32,057, in Taiyuan 13,991, in Tsinan 18,028, in Nanking 10,190, in Shanghai 73,150, in Hankow 7,823, in Canton 8,508, Amoy 8,827 and Swatow 1,749.

CHINESE ARMY CONFERENCE

SHANGHAI, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—The National Military Conference, in which all important Chinese military commanders will participate, has been summoned by the Chinese High Command to be held in Chungking some time next week, for the purpose of discussing general counter-offensive preparation measures, says a message from Chungking to the Tawandao.

MECCA PILGRIMAGE AS USUAL

CAIRO, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—The Government of Saudi Arabia issued a statement saying that the Mecca pilgrimage will take place as usual this year.

It is considered that sea and land routes to Mecca, which are connected by rail with the Red Sea and Port Jeddah, are safe for pilgrims.

The Air Ministry and the Ministry of Home Security communicate that bombs were dropped in various parts of Great Britain last night by isolated aircraft, but apart from broken windows, little damage was done except in one town in North-East England where a sanatorium and shop property suffered considerably.

Casualties were very few and only women walking in the country road were seriously injured. In one part of North England, leaflets were dropped.

NINE DOWNED

LONDON, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—The Air Ministry announced that at least six enemy bombers and three fighters were shot down during raids on our shipping in the Channel this morning.

BRILLIANT SUCCESS

LONDON, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—A Reuter reporter who watched the R.A.F. score today's brilliant success, telephones that the raiders were routed and put to flight by the Hurricanes which engaged them.

The Fatshan Case

PILOTAGE FEES ALLEGATION

TOKYO, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—Referring to the refusal of the British authorities to let the Japanese liners, Kaju Maru and Hakugin Maru, call at Hongkong, the Japanese Foreign Office spokesman said that possibly it had some connection with the case of the British steamer Fatshan, of the Butterfield and Swire, which plys between Hongkong and Canton.

The spokesman understood that she failed to pay the stipulated pilotage fees, so that pilots at Canton finally denied the steamer of their services, thus the Fatshan had been stranded in Canton.

Pilotage fees in arrears were reported to amount to several thousand yen. The spokesman said the

Disclosures 'On Progress Of Axis-Japanese Relations

WASHINGTON, AUG. 8 (REUTER).—WHILE THE AMERICAN REPLY TO THE JAPANESE PROTEST AGAINST THE PROHIBITION OF EXPORT OF GASOLINE AND SCRAP METALS REMAINS UNWRITTEN, the State Department continues to watch with keen interest events in the Far East, especially the Anglo-Japanese imbroglio.

NO SURPRISE WAS CAUSED HERE WHEN THE BRITISH ARRESTS OF JAPANESE SUBJECTS HAD A CALMING EFFECT in Tokyo and the results of this measure have so far been taken as underlining the general belief here that Japan remains cautious of any serious international move while seeing how any further political bluff will work.

One of the best-known political writers in Washington, MR. JAY FRANKLIN, in the WASHINGTON POST yesterday made disclosures, which, if true, throw an interesting light on the progress of the Japanese relations with the Axis.

Mr. Franklin declares categorically, the German Ambassador in Tokyo, General Ott, twice called on Prince Konoye, the Premier, before he took office and demanded the appointment of General Oshima, the former Japanese Ambassador in Berlin (who is said to be in favour of loose ties with Germany and Italy) as Foreign Minister, and the elimination of all Liberal elements from the Cabinet, quid pro quo being Axis help in securing control over the Netherlands East Indies.

ITALIAN CABINET MEETING

LONDON, August 8 (Reuter).—The Rome Radio states that Mussolini will preside over an important meeting of the Italian Cabinet on Saturday when questions of great importance to the country will be discussed.

While it remains to be seen whether there are any Liberals in the Konoye Cabinet, at least the demand regarding General Oshima has been refused.

Mr. Franklin suggests that Japan is trying to please the Germans in form while preserving freedom of action in fact. The readiness of the German Ambassador to make such demands, even before Japan is fully bound to the Axis, has shown the Japanese how little freedom and independence they might expect if they were to be defeated and Germany installed in the new world order, the writer states.

A REMINDER

Finally, Mr. Franklin reminds the Japanese that America is "privileged under the Four-Power Treaty of 1921" to protect the sovereignty of the Pacific possessions of Britain, France and Holland and "which could be done without the necessity of declaration of war, in accordance with the current

STRONG ITALIAN ACTION IN AFRICA HAD BEEN EXPECTED

SITUATION IN BALKANS

RUMANIAN ENVOY IN BUDAPEST

BERLIN, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—According to a Budapest despatch to the official German news agency, M. Bossy, the Rumanian Ambassador in Rome, has been sent to Hungary as special envoy to begin preliminary talks with the Hungarian Government.

A Budapest message states that M. Bossy has arrived and is expected to have immediate talks with the Hungarian Prime Minister and Foreign Minister.

Despite the high hopes entertained by Hungary after Hitler's talk with the Rumanians at Berchtesgaden, many people here have little faith in the result of the negotiations which are expected to move slowly to an inconclusive end.

NAZIS BUSY

It is noteworthy that the Germans here are busy trying to damp down revisionist enthusiasm, and are suggesting, for example, that a part or even the whole of Slovakia will be offered to Hungary as compensation for the smallness of the concession to be obtained over Transylvania.

The possibility of open Hungarian-Rumanian hostilities is not at present seriously discussed in Budapest although mobilisation is now almost complete.

British Superiority In Fighting Quality

LONDON, AUG. 8 (REUTER).—THE STRONG ITALIAN ACTION IN AFRICA HAD BEEN EXPECTED, WRITES THE TIMES.

The paper says: "It is indeed a little surprising, in view of the fact that Italy entered the war at her own chosen moment after long preparation, that it should not have begun earlier."

"Delay in the Italian East Africa would doubtless have been due on the Sudan front-tier to the rainy season and on that of British Somaliland to the waiting for the replacement of stout-hearted and aptly-named General Legentilhomme by the nominee of the Vichy Government, whose presence would put an end any anxiety about possible activities of the French forces in Jibuti."

NO ATTEMPT

Referring to the threat in Egypt the paper continues: "It may be anticipated that the British will make no attempt to oppose any Italian advance by means of rigid defence of the frontier."

"Our inferiority in numbers, superiority in fighting quality and the nature of the country all dictate in making fullest use of the desert and relying on mobility and hard hitting, rather than resistance of any given line."

"Prospect of the Italian offensive in this region is not to be taken lightly. None the less, the Middle East and the Egyptian Commands are looking forward to trial the strength with full confidence and any initial successes won by the enemy may be found to be more trouble than profit."

THEIR MAJESTIES VISIT INDIAN CORPS CAMP

LONDON, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—Their Majesties the King and Queen visited Midlands yesterday and inspected the camp of the Royal Indian Service Corps.

It was an Indian feast day, called the feast of Gold and Silver.

Two white cloths, one holding a piece of gold the other a piece of silver, were presented to the King as a token of gifts of the festival day.

The King laid his right hand on them as a sign of acceptance and then lifted his hand without taking them, indicating that His Majesty had graciously returned them to their donors.

Two gifts were accepted by Their Majesties and they were two flat round cakes made of whole wheat and water. They were handed over to the Queen to be given to the Princesses.

Their Majesties also visited Derby yesterday and as they drove through the streets they were cheered by large crowds.

NAVAL BLOCKADE OF TSUNMING ISLAND PORTS

SHANGHAI, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—The Japanese Naval authorities started a naval blockade of rivers and ports of Tsunming Island in the Yangtze River estuary from today, says a report to the Sun-wanpao.

As a result all shipments of goods between Tsunming Island and Shanghai and other Yangtze estuary ports have been completely suspended.

Uganda War Fund

BIG REMITTANCE TO CHANCELLOR

KAMPALA, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—The sum of £22,500 was remitted to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Kingsley Wood, as the first contribution from the newly-formed Uganda War Fund.

Cotton interests agreed to subscribe a shilling per bale on last year's crop, or approximately £15,000, and sugar millers agreed to surrender the whole of the Colonial Preference certificates in respect of 1939 and 1940, approximately £7,000.

It is suggested that this is a splendid example which might serve as a lead to other similar Colonial industries.

All races are responding energetically to the fund and further remittances are expected shortly.

6 CHINESE ABDUCTED WITHIN TWO HOURS

SHANGHAI, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—Six Chinese, among them a four-year-old and three rich merchants, were abducted in a series of kidnappings in the International Settlement between 6.30 a.m. and 8.20 a.m. this morning.

They are believed not to be connected with politics. Ransom is the motive seen as most of the victims are wealthy. One silk merchant and his adopted son were released later.

A dozen kidnappers took part. One woman assisted two of the kidnappers in seizing the four-year-old child of a wealthy Soochow resident. One man fired two shots to scare away witnesses.

The victims are believed to have been taken to nearby hideouts outside the Settlement.

U.S. & CHILD EVACUEES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (Reuter).—The House of Representatives has passed and sent to the Senate legislation authorizing United States ships to enter belligerent waters to evacuate child refugees. The House has accepted amendments intended to assure that the children should not become public charges and to forbid nurses, who are not American citizens, entering the United States.

DAY FOR PRAYER IN AMERICA

WASHINGTON, August 8 (Reuter).—President Roosevelt has issued a proclamation setting aside Sunday, Sept. 8, as a day for prayer when Americans of every creed and denomination should ask God to grant to this land and the troubled world, righteous and enduring peace.

LOSS OF AN EYE: SEQUEL TOKOWLOON BRAWL: BENCH AWARDS YOUNG MAN $25

AN AWARD OF $25 FROM THE POOR BOX WAS ALLOWED A YOUNG MAN, YAN HUNG-CHEUNG, by Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at Kowloon Court yesterday, in compensation for the loss of an eye sustained in a street brawl in Jordan Road on July 13.

In allowing the compensation, the Magistrate informed him that he could in no way consider this compensation as being due him from the man in the dock, a cobbler's assistant, named Li Hon, with whom complainant had engaged in a brawl on the night of the incident.

"I am satisfied the fight was proposed to do if he (Tai So) not at the will of defendant, but chiefly because of your friend," Mr. Macfadyen told complainant. "Defendant did not originally intend to do the damage that unfortunately resulted from the way you fought."

Addressing defendant, the Magistrate warned him that in the event of his being charged again with wounding a man in circumstances similar to those contained in the prosecuting officer's story, he would treat the case as seriously as he possibly could have in the present instance.

Defendant was placed on a bond of $100 to keep the peace.

CONFLICTING VERSIONS

Outlining the case, Det.-Sgt. N. B. Fraser said that there were conflicting versions from either party to the case as to what had led to the brawl.

However, a reliable enough version of what happened was obtained from a witness, neutral to the incident, a youth named Wong Kam-sing.

Defendant was a shoemaker employed by the Nam Kee shoe-makers' shop at No. 243, Nathan Road, ground floor. The entrance was from Jordan Road.

On the evening of July 13, defendant was sitting a little distance out on the pavement, at the junction of the streets, repairing a riding boot.

A man, known to the police as Tai So, appeared on the scene, and lay down on the pavement behind defendant. Complainant also came up and squatted down in front of Li Hon.

GRASS SANDALS

Tai So asked defendant what he was doing with the boot, and remarked also on defendant's grass sandals, inquiring of him what he

EARL'S SECRET WEDDING

Nullity Petition Dismissed

The Earl of Craven alleged in the Divorce Court that at his wedding in St. Peter's Basil-square, on May 3, 1939, he was suffering so acutely from alcoholic poisoning that he did not know he was being married.

Mr. Justice Hodson recently dismissed the Earl's nullity petition, granted Lady Craven a decree of restitution of conjugal rights.

Lady Craven, formerly Miss Gwendoline Irene Meyrick, is a daughter of the late Mrs. Meyrick, the night club proprietress.

According to Lord Craven's case he left his wife the day after the wedding, and did not return to her.

Before the marriage, except on one occasion, he had met Lady Craven only at a London night club; he felt no affection for her, and had not given her an engagement ring.

BLOOD TEST

Giving judgment, Mr. Justice Hodson said that Lady Craven knew in May that she was pregnant, but on July 14, for the first time, it was claimed that there had been no marriage. After the birth of a child a blood test was taken, which did not help the husband.

On the night before the marriage Lord Craven arrived in the small hours at the night club, having already drunk a good deal. He drank more at the club, and marriage was discussed. The couple were married that morning.

From the time he left the night club until he was married, Lord Craven was in the company of his wife and her sisters.

"I am asked to say," the Judge continued, "that these designing women got hold of him, and that everything he did thereafter was done under their guidance."

There was no doubt that, when marriage was discussed, Lord Craven was active in making the necessary arrangements for the ceremony.

The Judge thought that incorrect particulars were given in the marriage licence because the parties wished no publicity for the fact that a peer was marrying one of the Meyrick sisters.

The Judge concluded: "I am unable to find that the husband has proved that he did not know what he was doing and that he did not consent to the marriage."

Lawn Bowls Open Pairs

BIG VICTORY AT K.B.G.C.

At the Kowloon Bowling Green Club, L. J. Silva and J. F. V. Ribeiro beat V. Chittenden and W. V. Field 36-8.

In contrast to the close result at Kowloon Dock, Silva and Ribeiro assumed an early lead and were never challenged. They led 22-8 on the 18th end and finished with 5, 6, 3 for a total of 36.

British Child Refugees Arrive In Shanghai After Adventurous Voyage

NEARLY THIRTY BRITISH CHILDREN ARRIVED IN SHANGHAI recently after an adventurous trip from England, which included a narrow escape from torpedoing in mid-Atlantic, reports the North China Daily News.

The children, who were gathered from schools all over England, returned to their parents in Shanghai after it was decided by the government that English schoolchildren should be sent to Canada and America as a safety measure. Crossing the Atlantic, they were in company with 600 other boys and girls and many Canadians and Americans returning home.

Preparations for the departure of the s.s. Duchess of Windsor, in which they crossed from England, were kept secret, and the children did not know in what boat, or on what day they would sail.

FROM LIVERPOOL

The whole party was gathered at Liverpool, having received instructions to be there on a specified date, and then sent on board early in the morning. The ship, however, did not sail immediately, remaining in port for two days, during which time no one was allowed ashore.

The Duchess of Windsor was armed, and a strict black-out was enforced throughout the trip, no lights being permitted on the deck. While in mid-Atlantic the children were told of the torpedoing of the Arandora Star, which was only twenty-five miles behind them. The ship was unable to turn back to assist in picking up survivors as all accommodation was filled. One boy described how a destroyer was seen dashing to the rescue of the sinking liner at top speed.

FREQUENTLY INTERVIEWED While crossing Canada by train the 28 children were interviewed at practically every station, great interest being taken in their experiences before the evacuation. All the children had been evacuated to safe areas while with their schools in England, but some told of air-raids which had taken place near their districts.

The trip across the Pacific was comparatively uneventful after the Atlantic crossing, but the black-out was enforced until Japanese territorial waters were reached.

The children all seemed happy to be back in Shanghai, although some were in difficulties over their wardrobes, as they had had no opportunity to obtain summer clothes during the journey. A few members of the original party remained behind in Victoria, and are expected to follow later, together with another party from England.

LIST OF NAMES

The following are the children who arrived yesterday: J. Mills, L. D. Barnes, P. Brown, H. A. Clarke, P. R. Colman, M. Crow, A. Dykes, R. H. Falgate, D. G. Griffin, J. Huichon, D. Kennett, D.

Blacklisted Men In S'hai

The Shanghai Special Municipality is reported to have ordered the local Chinese police and the police in districts under its control which are in the outskirts of the city to help the Nanking regime in arresting the 87 Chinese blacklisted by the new regime, charging them with hindering the progress of the peace movement, says the North China Daily News.

NO ACTION

It is learned, however, that Nanking will not take action against many of the blacklisted persons, since they have recently signified their wish to keep themselves aloof from politics, refraining from doing things that may be considered detrimental to the interests of the new regime.

It is also learned that several of the blacklisted persons were not in could tell this startling, "off-duty" story of the cloistered, repressed world of nurses... Only the author of "THE CITADEL" could tell it so vividly, absorbingly as to top the deep heart thrill of his earlier success.

SPY FILM AT MAJESTIC

In keeping with its now well-established tradition of being the first on the screen with good pictures based on timely subjects, the Warner Bros. Studio has come up with another such winner—namely, "British Intelligence," at the Majestic Theatre with Boris Karloff and Margaret Lindsay in the leading roles.

The new Warner picture is an exciting, swiftly-moving recital of the activities of spies in wartime, and the two nations whose espionage services it deals are England and Germany. Its period is that of the World War of 1914-1918, but the events it depicts are likely to be just as applicable to the current era.

MR. ARLISS ON HIMSELF

George Arliss's account of his career as a film star is a record of remarkable personal success, borne—so far as the evidence of this book goes—with a modesty that owes much to his unflagging sense of humour: writes E. C.
Bentley in the Daily Telegraph.

Indeed, simply as an entertainment it is one of the pleasantest books I have read for a long time.
It takes the reader behind the scenes of the film-making art and industry, and introduces him to their curious technique, with the pleasantest intimacy.

It will be gathered, I hope, that I have enjoyed reading it. Who would not enjoy a book that is constantly presenting him with such remarks as—a propos of the "making" of the Duke of Wellington film—"Some men feel at home on a horse. I never had that kind of a home?"

There is the story of William Archer, who, after swimming out to sea with all his clothes on to rescue a man from drowning, was dreadfully worried on rejoining
Mr. Arliss because he could not find his umbrella. This is the sort of book that makes one feel a personal liking for the author; and there are not too many such.

AN EVENTFUL YEAR
Mr. Guedalla's Hundredth Year is 1936—the last year of the century of which he has already written the history. He considers it,
I think rightly, a transition year;
since its passing, "we breathe a different air." He gives, in justification, brilliant studies of the murder of Abyssinia, the reconciliation of the Rhineland, the Spanish civil war, Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal election campaign, and the reign and abdication of King Edward VIII. He paints, as usual, crowded pictures tingling with life, his wit is barbed, and he has, even more than ever, something to say.

I have never read a book about the science of meteorology that was amusing; never until I read Mr. Benstead's. He tells you everything, and tells it as an expert—with a keen sense of the comedy of weather as we Islanders know
it. A book that stands apart.

INTERRED BRITONS "BACK HOME"

LONDON, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—A
Swedish steamer arrived at a Scottish port from Petsamo, Finland, with 125 Britons, who had been interned in Sweden after being cut off between Trondheim and Narvik when the British Army was evacuated.
They are mostly troops and a few armmen and seamen. A further 111 are to be repatriated.

COMMONS ON STRENGTHENING BRITAIN'S ECONOMIC FRONT FOR A TOTAL WAR

Hitler's Position Not So Rosy—Mr. Greenwood

LONDON, AUG. 8 (REUTERS)—THE GOVERNMENT HAS DIRECTED ITS ENERGIES SINCE ITS FORMATION TO STRENGTHENING THE SINOWS OF WAR, DECLARED MR. ARTHUR GREENWOOD, MINISTER WITHOUT PORTFOLIO IN THE WAR CABINET, INITIATING A DISCUSSION ON ECONOMIC ORGANISATION IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS YESTERDAY.

He began: "It was clear in the very early days of the new government that a tremendous and growing burden rested on Britain. I do not think, however, that the outlook today should daunt us."

"To achieve victory as swiftly as may be, our fighting forces must be adequately provided with the sinews of war and the people must be kept in good heart. The Government has directed its energies to strengthening the sinews of war."

"In a normal year this country exports some 30,000,000 tons of coal to the continent of Europe. None of that henceforth will fall into the hands of Germany."

"As regards oil, of 20,444,000 tons normally consumed throughout Hitler's territories per annum, he can hope to produce or procure not more than one half."

"These are mere pointers to the situation in which Hitler finds himself economically. If and when the pinch comes as it will sooner or later in a 100 different directions, it is more than doubtful whether the subdued people of Germany and other lands will or will not be able to stand the strain. Yet we must not for a single moment underestimate the power arrayed against us."

"The German mind and strength have been devoted to one single purpose—preparation for the strongest and most terrible fighting force the world has ever seen. The German economic system has been for some years on a war footing. We must remember that we have not yet felt the full brunt of Hitler's blow."

"We have proved that we are capable of becoming as efficient for war purposes as the dictator, but we are still in the process of the change-over from peace to war economy. We have got to make the best of our resources which must be directed to the national life and effort necessary for a victorious conduct of the war and the maintenance of a national spirit."

"We intend to win this war. The Government do not intend to allow the limit of its prosecution to be anything else than the whole resources of manpower, industrial capacity, finance and foreign assets at our disposal. To achieve the maximum effort we must plan our economic strategy with the view the best co-ordination and co-operation of all the agencies concerned."

Mr. Greenwood then detailed the new arrangements made for consideration of a number of economic problems and co-ordination of their economic effort, saying that each main group of problems was dealt with by a sub-committee composed of members of the War Cabinet and the ministers in charge of the departments concerned.

One of the most important factors in the effectiveness of their economic warfare was to deal with the serious problem of surplus overseas commodities in such a way as to make them an advantage to British and a disadvantage to the enemy.

The collapse of France greatly increased the difficulties of production and "we will give complete priority to those essential weapons of war which will provide maximum resistance to the enemy in the shortest space of time. There is need to keep in our minds the possibility of a long war."

"Priority has not worked as well as it should, but having had to make this great effort for immediate war purposes we are now considering further measures to ensure as far as possible that materials, plants and labour are effectively used to carry out the production programme."

Mr. Greenwood then dealt in detail with the industrial capacity and organisation and said that provision had also been made against the destruction of factories from the air with plans for rebuilding and for moving of reserve plants.

He recalled his statement on July 11 in the House of Commons regarding new organisation to deal with purchases in North America through the Canadian and United States channels following dissolution of the Anglo-French organisation.

The new organisation had been actively at work for some weeks. The United States Government was now engaged in an effort of national rearmament and mobilising American industry for that purpose.

ORDERS IN U.S.

While, therefore, but a few months ago Britain was placing orders with American industry to supplement the deficiencies in the combined Allied production, they had now the need to embark on a much more extensive programme which must be related to the American national defence preparations.

Therefore the House would readily understand the complexity of the question involved in the task of the British Purchasing Commission in New York.

"At the same time we need both in New York and London to co-ordinate our requirements with those of India, the Dominions and our allies who must look to us for supplies."

"The United States and Canada have been our two most important potential providers of war material."

SAFEGUARDING CONSUMPTION

Continuing, Mr. Greenwood said it was necessary for efficient conduct of the war that the consumption of the people should be safeguarded and unnecessary hardship avoided.

"The rise in the cost of living is less than the rise in prices generally. Our object is that prices of necessities should be kept down and we are spending considerable sums to do that."

"The policy of anchoring prices of essential commodities will be continued. We believe by these means that we shall ensure the unimpaired health of the nation."

INCREASED EXPORTS

"We have taken steps to increase exports and we will do everything we can properly do in that direction. But in the present circumstances, it is clear that the possibilities of increased exports are not too rosy."

"It is important that we should use foreign exchange as far as we can for the purchases of aeroplanes, munitions, etc., abroad. At the same time, we need to retain a proportion of skilled labour on the production of commodities for export in order that our supplies for foreign exchange may be maintained."

"We must limit imports to things essential to the consumption and productive services. At the moment our shipping position is not too bad. The capacity has not been very seriously impaired, but we are bound to recognise that our ports and our shipping will be among the main objectives of the enemy's attacks."

PRUDENT MEASURE

"It is prudent, therefore, that our country make as much as we can of those foodstuffs and materials as can be readily stored to build up our stocks against the day when our capacity to import may not be so great."

PLAN FOR LABOUR

Mr. Bevin declared that there was a plan for labour and that the plan was working.

He said that a thousand miners, thrown out of work by a collapse, had been used to increase the power of the Navy by speeding up the construction of gun-mountings and other things.

WARM WELCOME

Hitler would get a far warmer welcome than he otherwise would have done.

Mr. Bevin added that while the Government were doing all they could to train men for industry they were not getting all the help they might from industry itself. He concluded: "While we may make mistakes in judgment, we are planning towards securing final victory."

WAR ECONOMY

Mr. Harold Macmillan, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Supply, replying to the debate, said Government's task was even more complicated than turning

DEVASTATING ATTACK ON CHENHAI

10,000 CHINESE HOMELESS

Kiangnan, a small town on the south bank of the Yangtze River, sustained the heaviest damage during the recent Japanese attack on Chenhai, across the river, according to a report received by the Association of Kiangsu, Chekiang and Shanghai Merchants Resident in Hongkong, states Central News.

The town, which bore the brunt of the Japanese onslaught, now lies in ruins, the report says. In the west gate area all the houses have been reduced to a shambles.

Many of the inhabitants have been killed while no fewer than 10,000 have been rendered homeless and destitute. Charity organisations are now doing their utmost for their relief.

KUNTOW SHELLED

CHUNGKING, Aug. 8 (Central)—A Japanese gunboat resumed shelling of the Chenhai coast in Chekiang yesterday morning. About 700 shells were hurled at Kuntow, east of Chenhai. Most of them fell short in the sea.

Two Japanese gunboats steamed near Chunshan, an island in the Tungting Lake in north Hunan, on Tuesday and fired ashore with naval guns and machine-guns. Chinese shore batteries replied and forced the enemy vessels to withdraw after suffering damage.

Later a number of Japanese steam boats appearing in the western part of the lake were fired upon and repulsed by the Chinese. Two of them were sunk.

PUPPETS REVOLT

According to reports from Kiangnan, two more puppet units have revolted against the Japanese and joined the Chinese. One of the units under the command of Chang-Chi tung and a clash with the Japanese at Wulien near Sinyang on the Peiping-Hankow Railway in south Honan, killing a number of Japanese. The other unit under the command of Liu Wen cheng revolted at Huashien in north Honan.

Kwangsi reports reveal that Japanese troops started another drive toward Hsiatung, west of Lungchow near the Kwangsi-French Indo-China border, a few days ago. The Chinese cut them into several groups and drove them back.

Chinese troops along Manning-Yamchow highway are pressing toward Yamchow, inflicting many casualties upon the enemy.

JOURNALIST TOURS DUSSELDORF

Damage Wrought By R.A.F. Raids

LONDON, Aug. 8 (Reuters)—A neutral journalist who has been allowed to see some of the results of the bombing of the Thyssen works near Dusseldorf reports that he was told that the works and vicinity have been raided 28 times and Dusseldorf 18 times during the past three months.

Factory officials told him that 20,000 workers went to air-raid shelters during the raids and many German factories start work later so that workers can make up for sleep lost during air raids.

LABORATORY HIT

He saw a laboratory which was badly damaged by one bomb during a 3-hour raid on June 16.

German air force officers told him that an area of 1,000 yards had to be cordoned off around any R.A.F. bombs which did not explode.

He was also told that plans have been made to move 40,000 workers to new quarters if the R.A.F. raids are intensified.

over to war economy because war economy itself had to be adjusted to rapidly changing strategic and tactical considerations. He could not announce the broad ambitions of a large-scale economic plan.

SCALE OF EVENTS

The vast scale of events must be borne in mind and the first definite plan was to give every shew of our strength to preparation in the next few weeks and months.

COURAGEOUS FIGHT BY AMAH AGAINST ARMED INTRUDER IN FLAT

Shanghai Man Committed: Pleads For Leniency

HELD WEAPON THAT WAS A TOY

The story of a courageous fight put up by an amah against a man, armed with a pistol, though at the time she did not know that it was a toy weapon, was related at the Central Magistracy yesterday when YIU MEI-MING, 31, unemployed, appeared before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett on a charge of assaulting, with intent to rob, Cheung Lai-ching, at No. 2, Tung Lo Wan Road.

On July 22, at 10.50 p.m., the amah was alone in the house when she heard the door bell ring. She opened the door and saw defendant who had a gun in his hand. She tried to close the door but the man forced it open and shut it behind him.

She grappled with him and tried to take hold of the gun. They rolled to the ground and fought for about half-an-hour. Defendant threw the pistol out of a window. By this time neighbours were aroused and police whistles were blown.

DOOR CLOSED

A Chinese watchman ran to the house but could not get in as the door was closed. He went to the back of the premises and tried to climb in. When he was there he saw something thrown past him. He returned to the front door and eventually entered.

Sgt. Howell said he was passing along Causeway Road on his motor cycle when he heard police whistles and saw a watchman running in the direction of the French Hospital. He followed him and saw a large crowd outside No. 2, Tung Lo Wan Road. He went up to the floor and, after some time, the door was opened and saw defendant standing inside.

Defendant, in evidence, said he was a telephone operator in Shanghai and came to Hongkong, because of the high cost of living, with two friends with the intention of starting a small business. He opened a shop at No. 22, Des Voeux Road Central under the name of Brother and Sister Co. which lasted one month after which he went to a friend at No. 88, Lockhart Road, and began an advertising and publicity company. This, too, failed.

SAW POLICE CHIEF

Towards the end of June he intended to return to Shanghai but before going he saw the Commissioner of Police who did not lend him any money but gave him a letter of introduction which was a request to the S.C.A. to grant him passage to Shanghai.

As he had six months to feed and his responsibilities were great he was forced, by circumstances, to commit the crime. He chose that particular house because he knew the locality well and knew which dancing girl earned the most money.

Defendant asked the Magistrate to deal with him leniently or send him back to Shanghai.

Yiu was committed to the Criminal Sessions.

Det.-Insp. W. N. Darlin conducted the case for the prosecution.

ROUND THE POLICE COURTS

MONEY DEMAND ALLEGED

Ng San, 25, shop fook, and Ng Hon, 25, sanitary cooler, appeared before Mr. Barnett yesterday on charges of demanding money with menaces from Pun Ng. 44, junk coxswain, and Chan, Fun, 26, junk fook, respectively.

Det.-Sgt. V. M. Morrison said that on July 19 the two defendants, with a third man, went on board Government Conservancy boat No. 3 and demanded $15 from complainants as payment to enter a triad society. As they had no money the defendants went away and returned on July 29 when they asked the complainants to go to a tea-house the next night, between 7.30 and 8 p.m., to pay over the money.

Meanwhile the complainants made a report to the police. On the night of July 30 the second complainant arrived first at the tea-house but ran away as he had no money to pay. First complainant arrived later. As he had no money he brought the defendants to the second complainant's house and obtained $10 from his wife and paid to first defendant. They then went away.

On the following morning second complainant returned to his junk and met first defendant who again demanded money. He then took out $5 and, before handing it over, tore a corner off. As defendant was pocketing the note he struck defendant a blow on the temple, seized him and took him to the police station.

Second defendant was arrested in his house.

After evidence was given by the complainants the hearing was adjourned to 10.30 this morning as first defendant wished to call a witness.

UNEMPLOYED REMANDED

A remand of 24 hours was granted in order to allow defendant, Tsui Chun-hung, 24, unemployed, to produce his birth certificate, by Mr. R. Edwards yesterday.

JAPANESE WANT CENSORS FOR P.O. IN FRENCH CONCESSION

Continuous visits paid by Japanese mail censors to the Rue Massenet Post Office in the French Concession on July 30 and 31 led informed circles to believe that they might actually begin censoring mail commencing on Aug. 1, as originally reported, says the North China Daily News.

SEVERAL LANGUAGES

The censors speak several languages, it is learned, and they will occupy a room in that branch Post Office. The Chinese press reported last night that no one could prevent the censors from going to the Concession and the former report that their presence in the Concession would depend on agreement by Mr. A. M. Chaplain, of the Post Office who is arriving here by boat, was discredited.

The reports indicated that it would not even be necessary for the head office to order the Concession branch to receive censors, it being asserted that it was a "unilateral" action, political in nature and intervention by authorities of the Post Office was impossible.

Speed-Up Of War Efforts

THE SEARCHING questions which are being asked in the House of Commons on the subject of Britain's war efforts have, apart from offering constructive criticism on the Government's programme, revealed a remarkable speed-up of practically every source of production to help the common cause for which the Empire is at war today.

Every day of delay in the launching of the threatened assault on the British Isles by the German war machine is being utilised to make up the leeway from which Britain embarked on her undertaking to rid the world of the menace of Nazism. The British Government has been frankness itself on what it has been doing to harness the material resources of the Empire into one tremendous resistance on which human progress in this generation depends. The criticisms which have been offered will enable those responsible for this mighty organisation to fill up any loopholes that might still exist in the solid bulwark of opposition which the Germans will have to penetrate. Having responded already with a unity of purpose that has amazed the world, the peoples of the British Empire are now being asked to redouble these efforts and once again the answer to the demand will never be in doubt.

WHAT HAS to be remembered, however, in this call to greater war efforts, is that perfection cannot be attained by sacrificing efficiency for speed. The British Government has made this particularly clear to those who have protested against delays in completing certain sections of the British war programme. Modern armaments cannot be produced overnight. The process of their manufacture is intricate and the utmost precision is required to make them effective in value and

CAR MISHAP IN KING'S ROAD

Vehicle Somersaults, Catches On Fire

Two motorists had a narrow escape from death at 12.30 a.m. yesterday when their saloon car somersaulted thrice and subsequently caught fire, after the driver had suddenly swerved to avoid collision with another machine approaching from behind at a fast speed.

Victims of the accident were—Mr. G. Kotwall, of Seen Keen Terrace and Mr. K. P. Chau, of No. 40, King's Road.

Both were sent to Queen Mary Hospital suffering from head injuries. Mr. Kotwall, who was allowed to return home after treatment, was driving along King's Road in a westerly direction when another car overtook him near Tsing Street, resulting in the mishap.

The two men clambered out of the burning car which suffered extensive damage.

The Fok Chi Teng ambulance, during the month of July, answered 50 calls including five accident cases, sick patients 45. It travelled 444 miles and petrol consumption was 37 gallons at an average of 12 per mile.

operation. It also has to be remembered that only eighteen months ago, Great Britain was thinking in terms of a small continental army and now that the ruthlessness of the forces opposed to her are fully recognised, the reorganisation of ideas and plans had to be based on a gigantic scale. This resulted in a quickening of the pace of arms production and the Ministry of Supply has been able to report that the output of weapons, tanks, munitions and other war material has far exceeded expectations, as workers in all parts of the Empire rally to the call of their mother country. Almost every waking hour in Britain today is filled with thoughts and pursuits of war and the entire energy of the Empire is concentrated upon securing final victory which spells liberty and peace.

DURING the last few weeks, the Ministry of Supply, which controls and directs the country's war effort, has established what are known as Area Boards throughout Britain. The duty of these boards is to ensure that full use is made of all industrial plant for war production. If they find that there are factories which are not fit for this purpose, they have the authority to take steps to make the workers and plants in such places available to other parts of the country. In addition, a census has now been taken of all machine tools in Britain and action is being taken to permit all these tools being employed in the districts of greatest output, thus increasing Britain's reserves of plant and men. The contributions in men and material which continues to flow into Britain from her Empire overseas has encouraged workers at home in no small degree. This overseas response has forged yet another link in the chain of common ideals of life which has made the British Empire what it is today. A ceaseless stream of products of metals and like products are reaching England and are in themselves, a tribute to the mastery which Britain exercises over her sea routes. The personal efforts being made by the men and women of the Dominions and Colonies is only matched by the determination of the workers in Britain to go forward together in the crusade against aggression.

"SPIRIT" CASE HEARING

Accused Claims He Owed $75

Replying to accusations that he had obtained $300 in money and gold coins from an amah named Leung Wah-hoi by falsely pretending that he could appease a certain spirit on her behalf, Lau On, 32, master of a barber shop, gave evidence at Kowloon Court yesterday when hearing of the case was continued before Mr. E. Himsforth.

Lau told the Court that the amah was an old acquaintance of his and he was in debt to her actually to the extent of $75. On July 18, he met complainant at the Shamshuipo ferry wharf where she had requested that he repay the debt.

He told her he was unable to comply with the request, and complainant then shouted "Snatching!" and an Indian constable caught hold of him.

OWED $800

Complainant explained to the Indian constable that he owed her $800 and he was taken to a police station and charged on the strength of her accusation. The debt he referred to was for gambling and he had never engaged with complainant in any fortune telling.

Evidence for the defence was given also by Wan Hung, who described himself as an assistant to a Chinese doctor. He said he had known complainant as an acquaintance of defendant and recollected occasions when she accompanied them to a cinema show and to a tea-house.

Further hearing was adjourned to next Tuesday at 11.30 a.m.

Mr. C. D'Almada is appearing for the defendant, and Sub-Ins. T. K. Whelan for the prosecution.

KOWLOON TONG ROBBERY

Ho Kwong-cheung, school teacher of No. 55, Fuk Wah Street, top floor, was sitting with his four sisters, Ho Fung-ling, 16, Ho Fung-ping, 11, Ho Fung-chi, 14, and Ho Fung-fai, 10, on the hillside above Kowloon Tong at 1 p.m. yesterday when three Chinese, each armed with a knife, held them up and robbed Ho Fung-ping of a wrist watch.

Ho Kwong-cheung, in trying to grapple with the men, received stab wounds on his shoulder, left hand and left thigh.

The robbers decamped towards Shamshuipo.

Ho was removed to the Kowloon Hospital.

A chromium-plated watch, valued at $12 and another similar watch, with a white metal band, valued at $15, were taken from two of the girls.

General Li Hon-wan, Chairman of the Kwangtung Provincial Government, has arrived in Chungking to report the military and political situation in South China to the Central authorities. He was entertained at dinner by high government officials.

WHAT AMERICA THINKS

"Grab the East Indies," according to reports, is now the war cry of the Japanese militarists. And the militarists usually have their way in Japan, no matter what the political government may say.

If this report is true, the United States may have to decide what it is going to do about the matter, and decide in a hurry. Now is the time for Japan to strike, apparently, if she is to get the Dutch East Indies whence come the major portion of our rubber and tin.

Our feet in Hawaii. If it is necessary to use it to keep the Japanese out of the Dutch possessions, we can send it to Singapore, the British key naval base. Chester Rowell says the British have expressed their willingness to permit the United States to use this base whenever it gets ready to do so.

The government at Washington would like to know how the folks of the United States feel about this problem, realizing that the fleet must stay out of trouble in the far eastern waters unless the people of this country decide that that is the place for it to be.

RETREAT FROM DUNKIRK:

Sapper's Vivid Account Of His Experiences

The following extracts from a letter received in Hongkong by a member of the China Command from a friend who was a survivor of the famous Battle of Flanders, pays eloquent tribute to the gallantry of the British troops during that battle and to the amazing retreat from Dunkirk under the fiercest shelling and bombing by the Germans in the whole of the present hostilities.

The writer is with the Royal Engineers and gives a vivid description of his experiences.

"AS YOU HAVE HEARD," he writes, "I went to France on of French refugees—all this time the Boche being about four miles away."

"He advanced with his light tanks to such an extent that we, being completely unarmed, had to give way, which, as I have already said, we did at 8.30 p.m."

"I had collected about 30 Royal Engineers from a nearby dump and took upon myself to evacuate these to a safer place—St. Pol, leaving Arras which was quite near our camp—a town of ruins, knowing it would be very well looted by the Boche in a matter of hours."

16 Miles A Day:

"However, the cold weather ceased and I was put on to another job which involved four journeys a day to a place four miles distant, where I chose to walk, even though there was other transport available, and a walk of 16 miles per day took up quite an amount of time; the work was extremely interesting, inasmuch as it dealt with the reception of troops, both as regards reinforcements, and incoming and outgoing leave, so much so that I think I met every unit in the British Army, including your own."

"Then I returned to my original unit and whilst there, set about the job of building an aerodrome, near which, of my own free will, I staked out a vegetable garden to the extent of 4,000 square yards, this including the sowing of everything from onion seeds to vegetable marrows."

"Little did I think as I was working in the evenings there, with just a couple of troop volunteers, that I should be providing for the Boche, but that is how things turned out, because on May 10, Holland, together with Belgium and our camp were invaded; the difference between the invasion of our camp and Holland and Belgium was that the countries were invaded literally, on foot, whereas our camp was surveyed from the air."

Air Raids:

"From then onwards, it was nothing but a succession of air raids, some unpleasant, some indifferent; this state of affairs continued until round about May 20, when our camp was bombed completely to destruction."

"We had to evacuate the three main engineer units leaving at about 12 noon, whilst I stuck it out until about 8.30 p.m., I having to make contact with the incoming infantry relief officer."

"Much happened during the day, including the actual shooting in, cold blood of a Belgian spy, and this took exactly thirty seconds."

Evacuation:

"Our orders for evacuation were given by Lieutenant-Colonel Barker, whose name you might have seen in the papers, he having complimented us on our stand."

"There is nothing to write about Dunkirk except that nothing in the papers has been in the slightest degree exaggerated, actually rather the reverse."

"Even coming across the Channel they had two attempts to bomb us, not forgetting the old Dutch tramp steamer which had her engines blown away—I do not know how many engines she had—anyway, approaching Ramsgate she was completely dismembered and drifted into the pier there."

The theft of $20 from a wallet at his home between 11 p.m. Tuesday and 6 a.m. yesterday, was reported to the police by Mr. F. Brown, of No. 45 Village Road.

Mr. Bander, of No. 3 Kent Road, reported to the police that two iron gates were purloined from his garden on Wednesday.

The engagement is announced between Lieut. Donald R. Hoar, R.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hoar, of Calgary, Alberta, Canada, and Miss Viola Dorothy Fernon Raven, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Fernon, of Hongkong.

GERMANY-MONSTROUS THREAT TO WORLD LIBERTY BRITAIN ONLY BULWARK AGAINST NAZI GOAL

LONDON, Aug. 8 (BWS)—SPEAKING AT A PUBLIC luncheon in London yesterday, the First Lord of the Admiralty said that "by sheer weight of the vast war machine which they have created, the Germans have overrun a large area of Europe and overthrown, for the time being, the great bastion of freedom on the Continent which the French people have maintained for over a century."

This country, as the outpost of the British Commonwealth, and aided by Allied contingents which escaped the successive strokes of the Nazi scythe, now constitutes the only organized bulwark against the creation of a European Police State which is Germany's immediate aim, with the threat which that would involve to other nations overseas.

Only behind this bulwark can the forces be mobilised and organised which will later remove the monstrous threat to liberty which confronts the world.

The Nazis have already enslaved populations and made a desert of several once fertile and flourishing parts of Europe. As they look out across the narrow waters of the Channel to the white cliffs of England they must often wonder what measure of time and effort still separates them from the full achievement of the conquest which would make the countries of the world their tributaries and countless nations their slave markets.

Mr. Alexander went on to tell some of his reasons for believing the Nazi goal can never be realised.

FORMIDABLE TASK

"To establish their domination, the Germans must defeat the British Commonwealth of Nations. Our plan and the measures which we are actually taking provide a counter to each and every possible method of attack.

"We have looked very carefully to our most which is given to us by Providence. It is now immeasurably better defended and its ramparts are far higher and broader than they were when the Battle of France ended."

The Navy was making its contribution, not least in discharging the vital task of defending convoys, carrying large cargoes of invaluable food, raw materials and military stores of various kinds from all over the world including America to whom we are grateful for the productions they are making available.

EXAGGERATED CLAIMS

The First Lord said: "Grossly exaggerated enemy claims concerning his attacks on our trade are the measure of what he fondly hopes to gain by this weapon. We are matching it and beating it by unremitting effort and constant development of new methods and new tactical plans for the protection of our convoys."

Regarding mines, he said: "Night after night, mine laying aircraft under the cover of darkness drop their deadly loads in the fairways and estuaries of our ports. Their efforts are supplemented by submarines which furtively sow their minefields off our coast."

"As soon as such minelaying is detected or suspected, the channels affected are closed shipping is diverted and minesweepers take up their dangerous task."

Mr. Alexander paid a tribute, too, to the resolution, seamanship and endurance of the anti-invasion patrols operating without lights and in all weathers.

THE MEDITERRANEAN

The First Lord had a few words to say on the Mediterranean. "The problem of the Mediterranean has undoubtedly been increased by the loss of French co-operation and French bases. Nevertheless, we are pursuing, and with success, a policy of striking persistently at Italian territory, whenever and wherever we can."

The R.A.F. has already nullified very considerably the preparations which the Italians had been making at their bases in East Africa and Eastern Libya.

Italy itself does not remain unscathed. Only last Thursday, aircraft of the Fleet Air Arm swept down literally out of the blue on the aerodrome at Cagliari. We know for certain they destroyed four times the number of aircraft which they lost in the course of this operation without taking account of what may have been contained in the four hangars which were hit."

TRIBUTE TO R.A.F.

"I gladly pay the Navy's tribute to the incomparable pilots of the Air Force, ever ready to soar into the air to meet and attack the enemy."

In particular, the Navy has cause to be grateful to the crews of the handful of aircraft at Malta, who, with unsurpassed resource, resolution and bravery have kept at bay the infinitely superior squadrons of bombers and fighters mustered in Sicily for the destruction of our naval base in the Central Mediterranean.

The First Lord spoke warmly also of the professional skill and devotion of the engineer officers and personnel of the Fleet which kept ships, big and little, at sea day after day, accomplishing countless hours of steaming in all weather with hardly ever a breakdown, and of the unrelenting and invaluable efforts of training establishments to speed up the training of the new personnel "needed to man the stream of new warships which are all the time coming into service."

HONOURED BY OXFORD

Sir Rabindranath Tagore, the 80-year-old Indian poet, who has received the degree of Doctor of Letters (honoris causa) from the University of Oxford, Sir Rabindranath was the winner of the Nobel Literature Prize in 1913 and was knighted in June 1915. He is a member of an ancient Bengali family. (See Page 3, Col. 3).

Under the heading, "In Ganges Defeat Isis," The Times, in lighter vein celebrates this historic extramural convocation as a manifestation of "levitation" in keeping with its Oriental setting and justified by the University's immortal claim "Jus Ubique Docendi."

The paper concludes, "More serious anxiety may be caused by the effect on the venerable frame of the Alma Mater of this strenuous jaunt on the magic carpet. But even if she feels a little dizzy she may reflect that a little price to pay for the accession to the ranks of her sons of one of greatest of living poets, Sir Rabindranath Tagore." (British Wireless).

GAULETERS APPOINTED

ARMY AUTHORITIES SUPERSEDED

BERLIN, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—Indications of Hitler's plans in regard to the adoption of Alsace, Lorraine and Luxembourg into the Reich are contained in two decrees issued by him yesterday whereby the entire administration of Alsace, Lorraine and Luxembourg will in future no longer be dependent on the Army authorities but be conducted by civil administrative chiefs acting immediately under him.

Joseph Buerckel, Robert Wagner and Gustav Simon have been appointed Gauleiters for Lorraine, Alsace and Luxembourg respectively. Baldur von Schirach, Hitler Youth Leader, becomes Gauleiter for Vienna in place of Buerckel.

BURMA ROAD ISSUE

TOKYO, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—Information has been received that traffic in war material, assisting the Chungking regime, is still going on along the Burma Road, a spokesman of the Navy Office stated at a Press conference, according to a Japanese report.

If that was true, it showed that Britain was not keeping her promise faithfully, he added. The spokesman hoped the information was not true and said the situation must be clarified.

The message quoted the announcement made by the Ministry of Communications in Chungking that traffic in goods between Yunnan and Burma was still going on, including medicines and chemicals; though the transportation of these materials had been suspended.

It was pointed out that chemicals come under the category of war materials.

RESERVE OF MAN-POWER ENROLMENT

WELLINGTON, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—A proclamation has been issued for enrolment of general reserve of man-power which will be liable for compulsory military service.

Mr. Semple, Minister of National Service, declared that the first division of the reserve will comprise of unmarried men, between the ages of 19 and 45.

Maoris are exempt from the scheme.

BRITISH ACE DECORATED

ENGAGED SEVEN FIGHTERS ALONE

LONDON, August 8 (Reuter)—Among R.A.F. awards announced yesterday was a Bar to the Distinguished Flying Medal to Flight-Sergeant William Henry Franklin, former laboratory assistant in eastern London, who shot down ten enemy aircraft and assisted in destroying further two.

On one occasion he encountered seven fighters, engaged five and destroyed one.

HID IN WOODS FOR DAYS

Nazi Airman Gives Himself Up

LONDON, August 8 (Reuter)—It is learned that the lady to whom the Nazi airman surrendered yesterday was Lady Buckland, widow of Lord Buckland.

The airman emerged from a wood looking very dishevelled and could speak only a few words of English. He indicated, by dumb gestures to show how he failed out of a plane and that he was afraid to surrender because he expected to be killed immediately.

It transpires that the authorities arrested two other airmen who baled out of a plane and had been searching for this man for the past nine days.

Administration Of French African Possessions Reorganised

VICHY, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—The reorganisation of the administration of the French African possessions was brought about by a new decree just issued, according to the Havas Agency.

Equatorial Africa (originally divided into three colonies, but with a single administrative unit since 1934) becomes a federated colony.

The colony of Mauritania (hitherto one of the eight colonies in French West Africa) will no longer have its own Governor and retain its autonomy, but will be placed under the authority of the Governor of Senegal.

Dakar and its dependencies, also among the colonies of French West Africa, will be under the authority of the Governor of Senegal, but will be administered by a Government official.

This reform, it is stated, completes the decree of June 26 by which unity and command are established in French West and Central Africa.

RHODESIAN AIRMEN WELCOMED

LONDON, August 8 (Reuter)—More Empire troops have arrived in Britain. The latest is the first contingent of South Rhodesian airmen, most of them in the twenties and from all walks of life, who have arrived to take part in the battle for Britain.

In a message of welcome the Secretary of State for Dominions, Viscount Caldecote, said that Southern Rhodesia is already making a splendid contribution to the common cause.

"In the early days of the war they have been in West Africa, East Africa and the Middle East. It is a great encouragement to us now to have you with us here in the Home country," he concluded.

INDO-CHINA LATEST: JAPAN, FRENCH CONSULS HAVE NO INFORMATION ON ALLEGED DEMANDS

Interview by a representative of the Hongkong Daily Press, the French Consul stated he had no information on the alleged Japanese demands on Indo-China. He denied knowledge of Japanese naval concentrations off the Kwangchowwan coast and said all he knew was what he had read in the local Press.

The Consul admitted that Commander Castex was in the Colony and had departed.

It is understood that Commander Castex represented the Governor-General of Indo-China and, while in Hongkong, was in consultation with British officials, including H.E. the G.O.C.

Asked as to the present status of the French Consulate, the Consul stated that he maintains connections with the French Consulate in Shanghai, and that the position of the local Consulate was unchanged.

NO COMMUNICATION
Mr. K. Okazaki, the Japanese Consul-General, told a representative of the Hongkong Daily Press that he had received no official communication regarding the alleged Japanese Fleet concentrations off Kwangchowwan and the negotiations between Japan and France on the Indo-China question, nor had he any information about the alleged Japanese demands on Indo-China.

NO GRAVE DANGER
Regarding the situation in French Indo-China, competent Chinese observers here, are of the opinion that the Japanese Government is now only sending up a trial balloon and that Indo-China will not be in grave danger of being invaded in the very near future.

But the same circles fear that the Indo-China authorities may compromise in the negotiations since the dynamiting of all railway and highway bridges along the Kwangsi and Yunnan frontiers indicates that the French authorities refuse any help from China.

Should the Japanese occupy Indo-China by force Chinese troops will probably pour into the area to "defend" it for the French immediately, according to the same sources.

WILL RESIST

SHANGHAI, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—The Vichy Government has notified the Chinese Government, through Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese Ambassador to France, that she will offer resistance in the event Indo-China is invaded, according to information obtained from informed circles in Chungking yesterday, says a message to the Tayingyehpao here.

With a view to exerting pressure upon French Indo-China, Japan is now despatching a big fleet of destroyers and warships to South China waters, preparatory to invading Indo-China, the report continues.

Chinese newspapers in Chungking continue to publish reports about Indo-China with banner headlines and voice the unanimous demand that the French authorities should cease immediately all efforts to reach a compromise with Japan, so as to avert any critical situation being precipitated between China and France, says another message to the paper from Chungking.

IMPORTANT PARLEY

Following an important conference on Monday, the Chinese Government authorities have decided to carry out plans for defence in the event that Indo-China is invaded by the Japanese.

The report states that a high Chinese military commander revealed yesterday about 300,000 crack Chinese troops were being stationed along the Yunnan, Kwangsi and Indo-China borders and necessary military preparations along these areas had been completed.

DETENTION OF JAPANESE HERE: WELL TREATED

The Japanese Consul-General told a representative of the Hongkong Daily Press yesterday that he had received no further explanation from the Government in connection with the detention of Mr. Geturo Yamaguchi except that he was being held under the Defence Regulations.

The Consul added that a member of the Japanese Consular staff visited La Salle College and reported that Mr. Yamaguchi was being very nicely treated. He has Japanese books and newspapers to read, is provided with Japanese meals and is allowed to talk with his family over the telephone.

FRENCH MINISTERS ON TRIAL

LONDON, August 8 (Reuter)—Reuter learns that the Supreme Court to try the men regarded as responsible for the declaration and conduct of the war opens today at Riom, ten miles to the north of Clermont-Ferrand.

There is apparently at present no official list of the accused but M. Daladier, M. Mandel, M. Campinchi and M. Delbos, who went to Casablanca after the armistice was asked for, will be closely questioned.

M. Daladier, who was Prime Minister of France when war was declared is now at Orange under a Police guard awaiting instructions.

CENTRAL FIGURE

M. Mandel is the only one of the four who is kept under close arrest and is likely to be the central figure of the trials. M. Mandel never concealed the fact that he is a Jew and in December, 1938, he refused to attend a State reception in honour of Herr von Ribbentrop who had just signed a pact of eternal peace between France and Germany.

Today's proceedings are expected to be purely formal.

ECONOMIC FRONT FOR TOTAL WAR

Then it might be possible for Ministers to give, in a more completely worked out form, the general system which they were gradually bringing into being over the wide sphere of our national economy.

"If the enemy hopes he can starve us out he is very greatly mistaken. Starvation of the people of this country is impossible. Nothing could be more emphatic than that."

Concluding, Mr. Greenwood declared: "Looking ahead it might be necessary to reduce the rate of intake of commodities which are no indispensable. We must use our ship-borne trade for the national cause and public good."

HOUSE ASSURED

"The House won't expect me to give exact details of the great increases in military production during recent week, but I can assure members that very great strides have been made in speeding up the production of aircraft and army equipment. Great strides have been made and greater strides will be made."

"There are shortages of certain materials etc., and we must reckon on difficulties arising from the bombing of factories, foundries, and shipyards, and the mining of ports and the sinking of ships."

"But in spite of all this, there is no real cause for dismay. The monstrously swollen German Reich is already largely beleaguered. It has only limited external supplies, while we can stretch across the seas where the treasures of the world lie and bring them to our shores, and we are assured of the active help of free peoples, and the supplies of the New World to reinforce our own efforts."

MEMBER'S QUERIES

Mr. R. Shinwell (Labour) urged an exhaustive survey of the country's economic possibilities, and asked, assuming the war lasts two or three years, has the Government estimated the needs in aircraft, guns, munitions, labour, raw materials and exports?

Was there a definite allocation as between actual war essentials and exports and the civilian needs, he asked.

Mr. Shinwell declared that according to a reliable estimate Germany has 780,000 men and women training for industry, while we had 28,000 trainees, and we envisaged 40,000 being trained this year.

Mr. Shinwell proceeded to talk about unemployment and under-employment in Britain, and suggested that instead of allowing miners to remain unemployed the Government might finance the building up of huge stocks of coal, or divert the miners into the war industries.

He also suggested that in order to meet a German attack on shipping, docks and harbours on the west coast should be improved and in order to develop a large export trade, manufacturers and export companies should finance it. Individual effort modified or replaced by a full-blooded system of collective production.

Mr. Shinwell added that we could not rely too much on the United States who might be embroiled in a war with Japan. It was better to assume that we must rely on ourselves and to organise accordingly.

ECONOMIC REGIME

Sir George Schuster (National Liberal) said that Mr. Greenwood's account was not very convincing and he urged that the first step should be to establish a central directing authority, and that we should aim with the American countries to build up a satisfactory economic regime for the war period to give the inhabitants of these countries a satisfactory basis of life, and to deny to their enemies what they needed.

FATSHAN CASE

affair was quite simple though there were several distorted versions of it.

BEING SETTLED

Asked by a Hongkong Daily Press representative regarding the progress of on the Fatshan negotiations, the Japanese Consul-General, Mr. Okazaki, replied that the matter was being settled in a friendly manner and that the ship may be expected to sail in a few days.

Thereafter witnesses will be examined and individual indictments framed.

GERMAN RADIO WARNINGS

"EXPLANATION" OF HOBOKEN FIRE

LONDON, August 8 (Reuter)—For some time now, the German radio has been broadcasting warnings about allowing children to play with matches, the dangers of handling petrol carelessly, and so on.

Children have always loved to play with matches, and it has always been dangerous to handle petrol carelessly, and so it might be wondered why the German radio has suddenly started to issue such warnings.

CARELESSNESS!

One explanation is that when Germans see fires at a distance, or hear of them, they might remember the radio warnings—think they have been caused by carelessness, and not by bombs dropped by the R.A.F.

A large quantity of petrol at Hoboken, near Antwerp, has gone up in flames.

The official Nazi explanation is that the fire was caused by people smoking cigarettes while collecting petrol that was floating on top of water in a ditch. There is no official explanation, however, of how the petrol came to be on the water in the ditch.

U.S. Patrol Of Greenland Coast

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—Reports published here that America's patrol of the Greenland coast is being intensified, in order to prevent any attempts by Germany to establish air bases, were denied by the Naval authorities and the Coast Guard Department in Washington.

It is stated that there is no protective patrol.

The United States vessels are merely carrying out ice patrol, enabling shipping to be warned of position of ice in the summer months and taking supplies to the new United States Consulate.

OTTAWA, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—The Canadian Parliament which has been in session since May 16, has adjourned to November 5.

5 JUDGES SAVE SOLDIER'S HOME

Writ Against His Wife 'An Abuse'

Five Lords Justice sat in the Court of Appeal recently to consider the case of Mrs. Nevitt, wife of a sergeant serving in the Army, against whom the Temperance Permanent Building Society sought possession of a house mortgaged by her husband. The court set aside all proceedings in the case.

Mr. Justice Farwell, in the Chancery Division, had refused to make the order asked for, and an appeal from his decision had been adjourned so that the matter might come before a full court. This consisted of Lords Justice Scott, MacKinnon, Clauson, Luxmoore and Goddard.

Mr. A. T. Denning, K.C., for the building society, explained that the writ, relating to a house at Hayes, Middlesex, was served on Mrs. Nevitt, but the society recognised that to get her out the leave of the court must be obtained under the Courts (Emergency Powers) Act.

Three monthly instalments of £3 7s. on a £570 mortgage were in arrear. Mrs. Nevitt had entered no appearance, added counsel.

Lord Justice Clauson: You deliberately issued the writ against the wife instead of against the husband, the mortgagor.

Mr. Denning: But not with any object of taking the matter outside the control of the court.

"GREAT GRAVITY"

Lord Justice Scott: I regard this with great gravity. An allegation has been put on the writ, saying, in effect, that a person not authorised by the mortgagor was in possession of the house. That, in my opinion, was a dishonest statement.

Lord Justice Scott: A wife is rightfully in possession, especially when her husband is away serving his country. It is a dreadful thing to have happened.

Lord Justice Clauson said that any suggestion that Mr. Nevitt had abandoned his house because he had left the house to serve his country was startling and revolting.

Lord Justice Scott, in giving judgment, said that in his view the issue of the writ was an abuse of the process of the court, because the mortgagor was not made a defendant and because the defendant chosen was the mortgagor's wife. The allegation that she was unlawfully in possession of the house was monstrous.

"If any person in the world can be in lawful possession on behalf of the mortgagor it is the mortgagor's wife," declared the Lord Justice.

Mrs. Nevitt had not entered an appearance, he added. She probably thought it was so ridiculous to describe her as being unlawfully in possession that she took no notice.

The other Lords Justice concurred.

SHAI COAL MERCHANTS BUY WINTER STOCKS

BUT NO SHORTAGE ANTICIPATED

It is reported that in order to increase further the ready stocks of coal in Shanghai so as to guard against possible shortage during the winter season, coal merchants here have placed big orders for coal with mining companies in India and other places, says the North China Daily News.

The report indicates that the coal situation here is definitely improving, as people do not use much coal during the summer.

READY STOCKS

Despite the fact that there are ample ready stocks in various godowns, coal merchants are not taking chances with a possible shortage in the future and, taking the opportunity of favourable foreign exchange rates they are said to have ordered about $1,000,000 worth of coal. The cargo is expected to arrive here in October, amounting in all to about 100,000 tons, it is stated.

During the past month, local coal merchants imported $5,140,000 worth of coal. The cargo amounted to 180,000 tons. Most of the coal arrived here from India, with Annam and Formosa ranking next in importance in that respect.

DROP IN PRICE

With prices of coal dropping, the Coal Merchants Association appears to be ever ready to stretch out a helping hand to several hundred bottled water shops here on which numerous Chinese depend for the supply of drinking water. Commencing yesterday, local coal shops began to sell cheap coal to those shops. Each shop, however, is allowed to buy only one ton and the sale will be closed tomorrow.

CHUNGKING TRANSFER OF LAND

It is reported by the leading Chinese dailies in Shanghai (quoting information from Hongkong) that Mr. O. K. Yui, former Kuomintang Mayor of Greater Shanghai, has petitioned and secured approval from the Executive Yuan of the Chinese government at Chungking in regard to retaliation against the handing over of land documents by the Shanghai Municipal Council to the Shanghai Special Municipality, the new Chinese city regime.

All transfers of property and property registration with the new regime here are declared null and void, it is stated.

EXECUTIVE YUAN'S ORDERS

It is further stated that the Executive Yuan has also ordered the Ministry of Finance to require all Chinese banks and real estate firms to refuse to accept property mortgages in which the surrendered documents are used.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs is said to have notified the Powers concerned, protesting against the transfer of the land documents which were given to the Council by Mr. O. K. Yui for safe keeping prior to the withdrawal of Chinese officials and troops from Shanghai.

NO CHARGES

It will be recalled that, soon after the documents had been handed over to the new Chinese authorities here through the Japanese, the new city regime announced its wish to register all property dealings here.

Mayor Fu Siang-en once declared that no charges whatever would be made for the registration.

YOUTH'S SERVICE CORPS

Independence Of P.I. Pres: Quezon Contradicts U.S. Judge's Statement

President Quezon, on Aug. 1, contradicted a statement attributed to Judge John W. Haussermann in a speech in San Francisco before the National Foreign Trade Council that he is not for independence.

The speech was reported in an Associated Press dispatch on Aug. 1.

"I do not believe Judge Haussermann said that, unless he has gone crazy," an authorised statement from the President said, says the Manila Bulletin.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—A statement that Commonwealth President Manuel L. Quezon does not favour independence for the Philippines, was made here Wednesday by Judge John W. Haussermann as he addressed the convention of the National Foreign Trade Council.

EXCLUSIVE STORY

The Associated Press San Francisco bureau confirmed today that the judge made the remarks attributed to him. He made the statement about President Quezon's position on independence while departing from his prepared text. An Associated Press staff man attended the convention to hear the judge's address and turned out an exclusive story on the remarks about independence.

The American mining magazine of the Philippines, drifting away from the text he had prepared, said President Quezon was not in favour of independence.

GREAT FOLLY

He added "President Quezon no doubt will deny it, but he never favoured independence, even when he was howling for it. He thinks a small group of Americans who are over there (in the Philippines), and who know better, will make people see what a great folly America would be committing by withdrawing from the Philippines."

Judge Haussermann told the foreign trade convention delegates that adoption by Japan of an "honest to goodness Monroe Doctrine in the Orient" would not necessarily require the United States to withdraw from the Far East.

MONROE DOCTRINE

The judge, who is in the United States on a combined business-pleasure visit, pointed out that under the original American Monroe Doctrine European powers were permitted to retain their existing colonial possessions in the western hemisphere. He added that some of the possessions were fortified without drawing objections from the United States.

The judge said on the same basis Japan should not object to the maintenance of an American naval base in the Philippines or the projected fortification of Guam Island.

DUTCH INDIES

Judge Haussermann asserted that Germany, as a development of the European war, might seek to control the Netherlands, East Indies and French Indo-China, and if she did her efforts there should divert her to some extent from Latin America, leaving less competitive fields in that region for the United States.

The judge declared that the Philippines realizes its safety and welfare lies in the "continuation of present political relations with the United States."

He added, "I hope and trust the American people will give sympathetic consideration to any Filipino suggestion in good faith to put off complete separation of the Philippines from the United States."

Judge Haussermann expressed a hope, for renewal of the Japanese-American trade treaty which was abrogated by the United States many months ago. He declared that war between Japan and the United States would be "an unalloyed act of madness and would decide nothing." He asserted that such a conflict was "easily avoidable."

S'hai Fears Trade Slump

PURCHASING POWER DECREASES

Uneasiness is expressed by the Chinese press over the gradual trade slump in Shanghai, chiefly owing to the decrease of the public purchasing power as a result of the increased cost of living, asserting that its former prediction that "consuming prosperity" would not last long has come true, says the North China Daily News.

BIG PROFITS

The reports admit that merchants have made big profits since the hostilities here and attribute the profits to the increased consuming power, resulting from the increased population. Quoting a banker, the "Sin Wan Pao" states, that the prosperity is gradually becoming a thing of the past, giving several reasons for the setback in business.

The decrease of the purchasing power and the decrease in sale of native products manufactured in Shanghai in view of difficulties in transportation and inadequate methods of using capital are mentioned by the banker as the reasons.

WRONG METHODS

In connection with the wrong methods of using capital, it is pointed out that speculation has caused merchants to divert attention from their original line of business.

It is further pointed out that even Chinese hotels, restaurants which have been enjoying a booming business, are not doing so well these days. The banker explains that all these show that "consuming prosperity" will not last long.

The Szechwan Provincial Government has appropriated $2,000 each to Hockwan, Peiling, Peipai, Kikang and Machwan, and $1,000 to Sanchi, to relieve the air raid refugees, states Central News.

MISSIONARY TO WORK AMONG HEAD-HUNTERS

From the United States of America to the wilds of Sarawak is a far cry indeed—but in two months' time an intrepid young American Methodist Missionary and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul H. Schmucker, who have been in Selangor for some time, will go 90 miles up the Rejang River from Sibn, which is the headquarters of the Methodist Mission in Sarawak, to begin work among the Dyaks whose pet hobby, until not so long ago, was that of head-hunting!

The Rev. S. S. Pakianathan, Superintendent of the Central Tamil District, Methodist Mission, who has just returned from a visit to Borneo has an interesting tale to tell about the beginning of missionary work in that part of the world.

About 40 years ago an adventurous band of 60 Foo Chows, most of whom were Christians, went up the Rejang River in Sarawak and settled as colonists at Sungai Merah, where the late Rev. J. M. Hoover and his wife, Methodist Missionaries from Malaya, joined them in 1903. Two months after the first batch of immigrants landed 500 more colonists went over from Foo Chow.

Two years later a further band of 600 Foo Chows went over to Sarawak. To-day there are about 24,000 Foo Chow people in Sarawak, especially in the Rejang Valley.

The extent of Methodist Missionary work in the Rejang Valley can be gauged from the fact that there are 53 Chinese congregations.

TYPICAL CHURCH AREA
Describing a typical church area Mr. Pakianathan says that a visitor finds a Church building and a school in a clearing surrounded by rubber plantations. No house of the congregation is visible and there is no sign of life round about. But when the church bell rings members of the church come trooping in from their own small holdings. So the importance of a good church bell in Sarawak cannot be over-emphasised!

The headquarters of the Methodist Mission in Sarawak are in Sibn where the Rev. and Mrs. G. V. Summers are stationed. The Rev. and Mrs. Paul H. Schmucker, who have been acting for them, said Mr. Pakianathan, will go 90 miles up the river to Kapit in about two months to begin work among the Dyaks who were head-hunters.

Mr. Pakianathan said that head-hunting was not tolerated by the Government now and hence only occasional head-hunting was heard of.

COMMUNITY HOUSES
Describing the ways and methods of living of the Dyaks Mr. Pakianathan said that the Dyaks were more intelligent and better-built physically than the Sakais. Unlike the Sakais who live in groups of less than 40 or 50, the Dyaks live in long community houses having 16 to 30 apartments. So 100 or 200 live in one locality in one long house, not in a group of houses as in a village.

These houses have long broad common verandahs. The families with the children live in the rooms while the young ladies are made to sleep in the loft (the ladder being taken away as soon as they have gone up). The bachelors sleep in a separate place.

There are a few Malay Settlements here and there, said Mr. Pakianathan, but the Dyaks are found all along the river in their long houses. Frequently they go to town taking their forest produce. Kapit is such a town to which the Dyaks will come down the river to sell their produce.

Right in the centre of the Dyak country Rev. and Mrs. Paul H. Schmucker will live and work together with Mr. and Mrs. Lucious Memora, a Batak preacher and his wife, among the Dyaks of Sarawak—(Malaya Tribune).

MISADVENTURE VERDICTS IN SHIP DEATHS

At the inquiry into the deaths of Mr. P. J. C. Ebbenhout (40), chief officer, and Mr. D. Offenburg (20), chief steward, who were gassed in the freezing chamber of a steamer on the morning of July 17, it was ascertained that the presence of gas in the chamber was due to a fire which started in the insulator.

"The origin of the fire, however, remains a mystery," remarked the acting Singapore coroner, Mr. Walter MacQuarrie. A verdict of death by misadventure was returned in both cases.

Smoke was first discovered belching from the freezing chamber by the ship's baker, Mr. Rein Lendert Weelt, who entered the chamber to get provisions. He reported his discovery and three men, Mr. P. J. C. Ebbenhout, chief officer of the ship, Mr. D. Offenburg, chief steward, and Mr. G. Danenhaitig, second officer, entered the chamber.

THE RESCUE

Mr. L. G. Veltman, quartermaster of the steamer, later entered the chamber and hauled up the chief officer and the second officer with the aid of a rope. When he was about to haul up the chief steward, he felt exhausted and had to be hauled up himself.

The chief steward was brought up to the deck by Mr. E. T. Wickel, chief engineer of another ship lying nearby, who went down into the chamber with the aid of an oxygen apparatus.

The second officer recovered, but the chief officer and the chief steward died.

Mr. Richard Lowery, naval architect and supervisor of construction works done on ships for the Admiralty, said that at about 8.30 that morning, he was summoned on board the ship. He was told that a few persons had been gassed. No mention of fire was made, but somebody said that the fire brigade had been sent for.

THICK SMOKE

Mr. Lowery said that he went to the companionway and noticed a thick whitish-green smoke issuing from the hatch.

"I suspected that burning had taken place in the freezing insulation," he said.

"I tried to find out where the fire had begun. I made an examination of the roof of the cooling room from which smoke was issuing, but nowhere could I feel any heat."

Mr. Lowery said that he had seen a lot of insulation in many ships. "The insulation on this ship is the worst I have seen," he remarked. "The shape itself is peculiar," he added.

Mr. Lowery said that the fire could have been started by a man who absent-mindedly placed a cigarette end in the chamber.

FLOATING MINE

Mr. Cudahy: European
Famine: Daily Express

LONDON, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—The statement by Mr. Cudahy, U.S. Ambassador to Brussels, about the horrible famine that will overtake Europe this winter is commented on by the London Daily Express.

Mr. Cudahy, says the paper, is an honest observer, but one must consider very carefully his hope that means will be found to send food to the Belgian people or the position this winter will be desperate.

It is possible, says the Daily Express, that some Americans might blame the British blockade for this famine—but the fact is that the refugees cannot return to harvest their crops because the German won't let them.

The Nazis have taken the stocks of food away to feed their own army, and any food sent to Belgium from the United States will go the same way.

"We have only one guarantee against this—a Nazi promise!"—the paper concludes.

LONDON STANDPOINT
LONDON, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—While authoritative London circles still maintain their previous standpoint that acute local food shortages in Europe this winter may become a distinct possibility, they assert if such a famine should occur it would inevitably be a direct consequence of the Nazi inability properly to distribute supplies of food-stuffs which they themselves always claimed to hold in reserve and that only the Nazi rapacity and inability to maintain proper communications can be blamed.

Official Nazi statements have repeatedly emphasised that huge food reserves are held by Germany and Germany entered this war with a reserve supply of 7 million tons of grain which her invasion of adjacent countries, it has since been estimated, has increased to nearly 10 million tons.

Thus should famine occur in Belgium or other occupied territory this is solely due to the inability of the Nazi machine to cope with a situation of its own making.

Though a few food ships from the United States to Marseilles, which left the port of departure before the collapse of France, have been allowed to pass the British contraband control, no general Anglo-American conversations with regard to relief supplies have been conducted nor are they in prospect.

RESERVE SUPPLY
LONDON, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—The official German wireless on June 27 stated that while the Hoover plan for the relief of Belgium, France and the Netherlands was doubtless "worthy of commendation" the German authorities themselves had already taken all the necessary steps to ensure the feeding of these peoples.

Among many other instances of this assertion, Hitler in his Reichstag speech on July 19 said that Nazi supplies of food were "limitless."

LOUANG, Aug. 8 (Central)—Following several days' inclement weather, a cold wave suddenly swept over here this morning and was followed by a snowstorm which raged for one hour.

DIRECTOR GENERAL OF INFORMATION

LONDON, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—Sir Kenneth Read, Director-General of the Ministry of Information, has resigned.

He will be succeeded by Sir Frank Pick, formerly a member of the London Passenger Transport Board.

FLEET AIR ARM

them in a terrific dogfight in the outer layers of a cloud.

After the raiders had been dispersed, the Hurricanes resumed their patrol.

The battling aircraft often swooped to within a few hundred feet of roof-tops.

For half-an-hour, there were almost continuous exchanges of cannon and machine-gun fire between Messerschmitts and Hurricanes. The noise sometimes was shattering.

This eye-witness saw no bombs dropped.

Anti-aircraft guns were silent. Gunners let the aircraft fight it out among themselves.

NEW GERMAN MACHINES
LONDON, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—It is revealed at the Air Ministry that the German Air Fleet attacking shipping in the Channel were taken on by 12 Hurricane pilots.

They tackled a formation of 50 Junkers bombers, protected by fighters.

A majority of the enemy fighters were Messerschmitts, but some of Germany's new Heinkel 119s were tried out for the first time since their irregular appearance during the battle for France.

The Hurricane pilots shot down six Junkers dive-bombers 878, three Messerschmitts 1088, as well as damaging others.

In doing so, they relieved the engagement fought by the same squadron over Dunkirk some months ago in defence of the retreating B. E. F.

MASSAWA RAIDED
CAIRO, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—Successful air raids were made on Massawa by R.A.F. bombers.

Direct hits were scored on a submarine, naval vessel and quay. A raid on Bardia resulted in damage to shipping and buildings. One of our flying boats was shot down in the Tobruk area.

Italian bombers approached the Malta area today but they turned back before our fighters could engage them.

NAIROBI, August 8 (Reuter)—Yesterday's communique states: "Two enemy aircraft bombed Wajir without success. They were pursued by our fighter aircraft. Hits were registered on one enemy machine. Both escaped in the clouds."

CHINESE TUNGOIL
FOR AMERICA
SHANGHAI, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—The United States has decided to dispatch a fleet of ocean-going steamers to Rangoon, Indo-China and Kwangchowwan for the purpose of transporting to the United States large quantities of Chinese tungoil, bristles, antimony, ore, and weaving fibres, says a report to the Tameiwanpa.SHANGHAI BISHOP
THREATENED

SHANGHAI, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—Terrorists were active again here early today, three kidnappings in two hours claiming four Chinese victims.

At least one case is known to be political.

Two Chinese were kidnapped from a hotel in the Settlement.

Bishop John, head of the Russian Church here, is the latest foreigner to receive a threatening message.

VATICAN
AGREEMENT
SIGNEDPORTUGAL TO CEDE
CHURCH PROPERTY

LONDON, August 8 (Reuter)—According to Rome Radio, an agreement had been signed between the Vatican and Portugal whereby Church property, taken over by the State in 1910 and now under its control, will be returned by Portugal to the Church.

Under another clause, marriages taking place in Catholic Churches in Portugal will in future be legal without an additional civil ceremony hitherto required by the State.

LOYANG, Aug. 8 (Central)—Following several days' inclement weather, a cold wave suddenly swept over here this morning and was followed by a snowstorm which raged for one hour.

DEMPSTER LINER SUNK BY TORPEDO HIT AMIDSHIPS

LONDON, AUG. 8 (REUTER)—THE ELDER DEMPSTER LINER, ACCRA, HAS BEEN SUNK OFF THE WEST COAST OF IRE. OVER 450 SURVIVORS HAVE BEEN LANDED AT A NORTH-WEST ENGLISH PORT.

First reports on the disaster suggested that there were 25 persons missing, but latest official figures show that only eight members of the crew and eleven passengers are missing, presumed drowned. The Admiralty states that there were no children in the ship.

The Accra was a motorship of 9,337 tons and she was sunk by a submarine during an attack upon a convoy on July 26.

She sank in about half an hour, going down stern first with her colours flying, one of the crew having hoisted the British ensign.

MOTORBOAT OVERTURNS
The lives were lost when a motorboat overturned in the choppy sea.

Some of the survivors were in lifeboats for hours.

A New York report states that the Accra was sunk when three days out of a British port.

CAPTAIN INTERVIEWED
Captain John Joseph Smith, the master of the Accra, told an interviewer that the officers and crew displayed great courage and coolness after the explosion and in the rescue operations they might have been queuing up people for a cinema show so quietly and coolly did they go about the work of marshalling those aboard.

Captain Smith added that the passengers were at luncheon when the torpedo exploded, and they fled out of the dining-rooms in orderly fashion.

There was an abundance of room in the lifeboats and most of the loss of life was due to the overturning of the motorboat and direct hits on the liner.

The men in the lifeboats sang "There'll always be an England" when on their way to the rescuing ships.

NO PANIC
A steward who has been torpedoed four times, including the Lusitania and the Yorkshire, said the torpedo hit them amidships and shook the ship from stem to stern.

There was not a trace of panic among the passengers and the crew behaved marvellously. None of them saw the submarine, but they understood that at least one was sunk a few hours later.

JAPANESE IN ENGLAND

LONDON, August 8 (Reuter)—The number of Japanese registered with the Police in England is 865, of whom 762 are males, stated Capt. O. Peaks, Under-Secretary of the Home Office, in a written reply to Lieut. Col. Sir T. Moore (Conservative) in the House of Commons yesterday.

NAVAL BATTLE?

ROME, Aug. 8 (Reuter)—A Madrid despatch to the Stefani Agency declares that violent gunfire has been heard in the Mediterranean, south of Valencia.

Fishermen believe a naval engagement occurred between Formentera, one of the Balearic Islands, and the north coast of Africa near Algiers.
